Broker Recommended for Health, Dental and Vision Insurance Plans

Dear Fellow Bar Members,

From the halls of Congress in Washington, D.C., to town halls across America, the hot-button issue of this summer has been health insurance reform. Regardless of which stance on the national debate you happen to take, there is no doubt that Georgia lawyers are just as interested in affordable health coverage for themselves, their families and their law firms as the next citizen or business owner.

Member benefits surveys over the years have consistently shown health insurance to be the top priority of Bar members. This is why I am delighted to announce a new service the State Bar will offer to assist members in finding a customized health coverage plan that fits your needs based on the size of your firm, availability of health care providers in your community and any number of other considerations.

Your Board of Governors recently selected BPC Financial as the State Bar's recommended broker for members' health, dental and vision plans. After extensive research and vetting by the Member Benefits Committee, BPC Financial was chosen because of its vast experience in working with lawyers and law firms, including our counterparts in Florida. I want to thank the committee members for their outstanding work on this project.

This service is completely voluntary, and the recommendation of BPC Financial is offered simply as another resource for Bar members who are seeking such assistance. You can read more about the firm in the October issue of the Georgia Bar Journal. If you'd like to contact BPC Financial, please call 800-282-8626 or visit BPC Financial's website by clicking here

Sincerely,
Bryan M. Cavan
President, State Bar of Georgia
